

L'ORÉAL

L'Oreal's New York City office gathers employees together for their annual TEDx Business event. Organizing team member Ashley Henry credits the “volunteers, amazing core event team, makeup artist (this is L'Oreal after all!) and killer catering team” for their top-notch event. One inspired employee wrote afterwards: “The power of TEDx lies not only in its ability to change your way of thinking -- taking something you might know, turning it on a new angle, and illuminating it in a new way--but in the fact that you then carry this change with you.”

